TRUMAN COMMITTEE CARRIES ON

Senators Kilgore of West Virginia (Dem.) and Brewster of Maine (Rep.) had an interesting experience while probing conditions in Germany for the Mead committee, formerly the Truman committee. Calling at the headquarters of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, they were received courteously by the general himself, who talked with them for ten minutes, then went off to keep an appointment.

The two senators then proceeded with their usual investigation. Settling down in one of the U. S. military offices, they called in witnesses, and cross-examined them with a stenographer taking down everything that was said.

This continued for nearly three hours. Unlike most visitors, Senators Kilgore and Brewster seemed intent on really finding out what was happening in that part of occupied Germany. Finally, Gen. Arthur White, chief of staff to General Patch, appeared nervously in the background.

"Gentlemen," he said, "ahem . . . this procedure . . . it's a little unusual. I'm not sure that we can permit you to continue."

"It's the same procedure we've always followed," replied Senator Brewster.

"Yes," continued Kilgore, "it's the same procedure followed by this committee under former Chairman Truman."

"You probably recall him," added Brewster, "he's now President of the United States."

Next day General Patch himself invited the two senators to dine with him at the villa which he had taken over from a German princess.

JUDICIAL EXIT

There was a day when everyone in and around the Roosevelt administration wanted to be a judge. This ambition was largely precipitated by the Supreme court fight and the fact that the courts in those days had put several obstructive decisions squarely across the path of the New Deal.

But now it is just the opposite. There is a growing exit from the courts. Judge Schwellenbach has just resigned from the bench to be secretary of labor. Judge Sherman Minton is itching to get off the circuit court of appeals in Chicago. And there will soon be four vacancies on the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, considered one of the most important courts in the country.

Judges Vinson and Thurman Arnold have already made two vacancies on this court. Two other vacancies will occur when Chief Justice Duncan Groner and Judge Justin Miller resign.

It may keep the White House busy looking for good men to take their places.

ITALIAN UNDERGROUND

It is not often that anyone can get a first hand report on the results of psychological warfare direct from his own family in an enemy country. However, Ugo Carusi, director of immigration and naturalization, has had that experience.

Carusi came to this country as a small boy from the marble quarries of northern Italy, went to work in the marble quarries of Vermont, and got to know Harlan F. Stone, who brought him to the justice department when Stone became attorney general under Coolidge.

And during the war, Carusi has been broadcasting to the Italian people urging them to surrender. With the end of the war, Carusi has received letters from his relatives in Italy telling how his broadcasts helped inspire the battle against the Nazis.

"Ugo," wrote a cousin, "you can really be proud of your relatives here in Italy. From the oldest down to that little, charming young lady (Carusi's 10-year-old niece) you were always so happy to hold in your lap while in Carrara, they have proven themselves to be great patriots.

"One of your cousins, the brother of Enrico, was the colonel who led a Partigiani band in the capture of Carrara from the Germans last November. From that time on, the Partigiani controlled all the public offices in the town. The caves with which you are familiar were used to good advantage by the Partigiani, and the Nazis refrained from re-entering the city."

WAR NOTES

Despite the heavy bombing of the Schweinfurt ball-bearing plant, inside sources reveal that it is in reasonably good condition and within one month could be producing 50 per cent of its wartime schedule. . . . The Nazis had removed a lot of Schweinfurt's intricate machinery before the air raids, and hidden it. The manager of the plant told U. S. officials that within three or four months he could be turning out 20 per cent more ball-bearings than during the war.

Campbell Fire House Gets New Coat of Paint

The Campbell fire house is sporting a new paint job, cream with a little green trim, the work of Jack Scott, chief of the Campbell Volunteer Fire company. Two attractive signs on the doors of the building were made by Ethan Lanphear, one of the fire commissioners.

Before, several drivers who parked their cars in front of the fire house said that they didn't know what the building was and failed to note the red painted area on the curbing. No one can try that excuse hereafter.

The building is greatly improved with its clean new dress and signs.

Col. Hall showed two reels of movies taken by himself while in Europe and made many interesting comments of places shown. All those present were unanimous in their praises and felt that the Colonel certainly had some priceless reminders in the years to follow. Of particular interest was the devastation shown as results of bombings and one could imagine what Japan will look like in another few months.

Visitors were Joe McKinnon, Jimmy Glynn, Rex Fuller, E. C. Merrill and T/Sgt. Harold Shelley. Sgt. Shelley spoke briefly of his experiences in Africo and Italy with the Air Corps. He is wearing plenty of decorations won in his 34 months overseas.

As pilot of a B-24 in January young Farnham was congratulated by his commanding general for participating in a heavy attack on Iwo Jima on the third anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Before his death he had flown over 31 missions and wore the Air Medal and five Oak Leaf clusters.

"SURRENDER OR DIE"

The Japanese—and especially the Jap militarists—now know exactly where they stand. No longer can they bleat that we have not indicated what "unconditional surrender" means. We have told them.

And what we have told them dashes all hope of the Nipponese army and navy cliques to squirm out of this war with enough left to start building for another one. It has also been made clear that Japan will be stripped of virtually all territory outside of her four principal islands and that her future industrial production will be limited to strictly peacetime items.

Any hope that they might escape occupation by Allied forces was also blasted by the declaration that we will occupy "points in Japanese territory." The Japanese people, however, were assured that they would not be enslaved but would be permitted to live peacefully.

What effect this announcement will have on the masses in the homeland cannot be readily determined. But there seems little likelihood that the militarists will permit the nation to yield since they know that they—the militarists—have nothing to gain by surrender.

The fact that the future status of the Emperor was not mentioned in the statement indicates that he may be allowed to remain. To lessen his influence over the people, however, emperor worship may be banned.

The Japs now have a clear choice either to "surrender or die." And they ought to know by this time that we aren't kidding.

JAPAN'S "ETHEREAL" NAVY

Japan's Imperial Navy began this war in dishonor, sailing for the infamous sneak blow at Pearl Harbor while Jap diplomats were making protestations of peaceful intent to our government heads. It fought in dishonor, using defenseless and wounded Americans in life-rafts for target practice.

That fleet—so sleek and powerful then, and which, it was boasted, would carry Jap warlords to conquered America to dictate peace terms at the White House—has died as a fighting force in dishonor. It's last major remnant went down, not fighting gamely to the last on the high seas, but huddled impotently in harbor, placing futile dependence upon a land-based air force which American vengeance swept from the sky.

It would not be in taste for Americans to gloat over smashing defeats inflicted upon a foe who opened war honorably and fought war honorably. Admiral Halsey wouldn't do that. But it was of a foe he loathed when he declared his ambition to ride the streets of Tokyo on Hirohito's white horse.

Now that Japan's Imperial Navy has been blasted into an ethereal navy, perhaps U. S. airmen will strive to miss the imperial stables so that horse won't get disabled or killed. "Bull" Halsey has always done what he said he'd do!

THE CHURCHILL DEFEAT

The overwhelming defeat of Winston Churchill in the British general election marks the passing from the international scene of one of the most courageous and colorful figures in British history. It leaves Marshal Stalin as the one lone remaining member of the original Big Three.

There seems little doubt that most Americans would have preferred to see Mr. Churchill continued as Prime Minister not only because he was generally well liked in this country but because we had become accustomed to dealing with him. There is no reason that we can foresee, however, why we should not get along just as well with Mr. Attlee.

Some persons might say that the rejection of Mr. Churchill by the British people is gross ingratitude for his magnificient service during the desperate days of the war. But there is another way of looking at it. No nation can afford to continue a leader in office no matter how thankful that nation may be to him for past service, if it feels that someone else can now do a better job. And apparently that is how the people feel about the man who has led them for the past five years.

The change in governments is not expected to have any effect on British foreign policy since both parties were in agreement on that score. The election was fought out strictly on domestic issues.

In spite of his defeat Winston Churchill will go down in history as one of the greatest of Britain's great Prime Ministers.

PRESIDENT'S POPULARITY

When Harry Truman accepted the "Throttle-bottom role in Government last January 20, he little dreamed that he was not only to become President less than 90 days later, but was to attain a degree of popularity which even his predecessor had never achieved.

Yet, a recent Gallup poll shows that 87 per cent of the American people approve the way he is handling his job as President. This compares with the Roosevelt high of 84 per cent in January 1942.

There has been general surprise at the efficient way he has taken over duties as chief executive. But he was better prepared for the job, at least in regard to domestic affairs, than most people realize. His work as chairman of the Senate Investigating Committee carried him deep into more national problems than is generally known. He knows the war production picture from start to finish and is familiar with reconversion problems.

He has uncovered wasteful spending in government and he sees the need of a balanced budget at the earliest possible date. He is keenly alert to the need of full industrial activity and full employment.

Of course, his training and experience on foreign problems and policies has been meager, but he has not suffered in this department because of his willingness to accept the counsel of capable advisers.

Mr. Truman can hardly hope to maintain his present degree of popularity indefinitely but he has set up a popularity score that is not likely to be equalled or surpassed for a long time to come.

WAVES' THIRD ANNIVERSARY

July 30 marked the third anniversary of the establishment of the Women's Reserve, United States Naval Reserve—better known as the WAVES.

Today 90,000 young women are serving in this branch of the armed forces and they have thoroughly exploded the belief that women are not as capable as men.

Every type of shore job has been successfully filled by them, and that includes a good many types of work that were once thought to be beyond the capacity of the fair sex.

The WAVES are now asking for 20,000 more enlistments. Half of this number are wanted to volunvelt high of 84 per cenot in January 1942.
fered by our Navy thus far have been very heavy. The wounded must be cared for. There is no greater service which any woman could render to her country and to the men who have fought for freedom and are now fighting for recovery.

The WAVES have done, and are doing a grand job.

JOAN EDWARDS has it to her credit that she wasn't discovered by her uncle, the star-maker, Gus Edwards, but got to the top by herself. But the gay young star of "The Hit Parade" did want her uncle to be present at one of her broadcasts, so she arranged to go to the Coast for some guest performances, and have her uncle, who has been ill for so long, brought to one of them. Joan as the mother of lovely young Judy Ann, aged 1½, is a different person from the talented singer and pianist the public knows; she'd like to spend a lot more time with that young lady if she could. But she's tied to "The Hit Parade" for years to come.

It's nothing new for Director Mitchell Leisen to lend his own belongings as props for pictures. He did it for the eighth time for "Masquerade in Mexico," when Dorothy Lamour had to be shown with a lot or smart luggage. The property department couldn't supply matched bags, wardrobe cases and a steamer trunk—so you'll see Dorothy surrounded by Mr. Leisen's very expensive traveling kit.

Alexis Smith wound up her role in "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" at Warner Bros. on a Saturday afternoon, and immediately walked across the studio lot to begin work in "Night and Day," based on the life and music of Cole Porter; she's seen as Mrs. Porter.

For three years Metro has been grooming Jacqueline White for big things; she was signed up right out of college, and has had just one picture role, in "Song of Russia." She gets her first big role in "The Yearling," playing opposite Gregory Peck.

"Queen for a Day," the Cinderella show aired daily over Mutual, will become a picture; Ed Golden's bought the film rights, and it will be released through United Artists. In case you haven't heard the show, it's the one on which a queen for a day is chosen from the studio audience, and then is given her every wish. In the picture the Queen will probably drop in on various movie stars.

Two famous mysteries, written in the last century, will reach the screen by way of the Warner Bros. studio. They're by Wilkie Collins. One is "Woman in White," the other is "The Moonstone"—and they're better than many a modern whodunit.

Rise Stevens takes another step up the ladder with that new radio show of hers that is the summer replacement for "Information Please." And it's a novel idea to have a different musical director each week, from one of the leading motion picture companies.

Several weeks ago Lulu McConnell, feminine star of the hilarious "It Pays to Be Ignorant," was ordered to a hospital by her doctor. She was a good patient till Friday came; then she defied doctors and nurses, got up and dressed, and was off to the studio for her broadcast. Like the show's other stars, she's an old-timer in the theater. "When I can't get to the broadcast, I'll be dead," she told Tom Howard.

Weary apartment seekers in Hollywood rejoiced when a sign "Apartment for Rent," was hung outside one of the buildings of the Monogram studio that faces the street. Gale Storm was to do a scene for "The Gay Nineties," inspecting the sign—but before camera crews could get there the street was so crowded that it took half an hour for an assistant director to convince them that it was just for a picture.

ODDS AND ENDS—Jane Withers will probably have her own air show in the fall, a show for young people. . . . Alice Faye may abandon movies completely, and do an air show with her husband, Phil Harris. . . . Hi Brown, producer-director of "Inner Sanctum," has directed over 15,000 broadcasts, and during one year had 35 of his own shows on the air. . . . The Ray Bulger show, replacing the Jimmy Durante-Garry Moore one, has a staggering line-up of stars signed for the summer and early fall. . . . Judy Canova's husband left for overseas when their baby was two weeks old—but the proud parents drank a toast to the baby.

Pfc. Coy I. Tackitt Gets Purple Heart

Bushnell General Hospital, Brigham City, Utah—Attacking a German position during the heavy fighting in Belgium this winter, Pfc. Coy I. Tackitt, Campbell, Calif. infantryman was wounded in the right thigh by enemy machine gun fire.

This week he was presented the Purple Heart for his wounds by Col. Robert M. Hardaway, commanding officer of Bushnell General Hospital where Pfc. Tackitt now is a patient.

An automatic rifleman with the 84th "Railsplitters" Division, Pfc. Tackitt was wounded January 5, while his unit, part of the 9th Army, was compressing the German salient into Belgium from the north.

The 24 year old veteran is married, and his wife, Lena, lives at 68 North 1st Street. His father, William Harvey Tackitt is engaged in farming near Button Willow, Calif.

Pfc. Tackitt entered the service in November 1943, and was assigned overseas in September 1944. He was returned to the United States aboard the famed Queen Elizabeth, peace-time luxury liner.

Norman Malone In Action In Pacific

Aboard the USS Birmingham in the Pacific—Norman D. Malone, coxswain, USNR, 30 Kennedy avenue, Campbell, serves aboard this ship which can look back on 121,500 miles of fighting the Axis from the invasion of Sicily to the battle of Okinawa.

The Birmingham struck at Okinawa targets six months prior to the landings and gave fire support to minesweepers clearing the approaches to the island.

Operating with the famed 3rd and 5th Fleets and Task Forces 38 and 58, Malone was aboard when Wake Island was bombarded, participated in air strikes on Tarawa, took three hits at Bougainville, and when she shelled Shortland Island and hurled her might into the assaults on Saipan, Tinian, Guam and Mindanao.

Sheriff William J. Emig's office was called to investigate a number of broken windows in L. E. Garcia's plumbing shop, which vandels demolished over the week-end by hurling rocks through them. Deputy Sheriff Francis Gilleran and John Furtado said that boys residing in the neighborhood were suspected.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geran and four months old son Thomas Michael of Akron, Ohio, arrived last week for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shaves and family of Fourth street.

Mrs. Willard H. Van Dyke, who with her daughter is spending several weeks at the coast visited Mrs. D. W. Clark the first of the week. Mr. Van Dyke and son were with them earlier in the summer.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson, Hamilton avenue, a boy, Gerald Slavens, July 22, at O'Connor sanitarium.

With the Fifth Army, Italy —Laverne G. Gagliasso, rifleman, son of Mrs. Adaline F. Gagliasso of Campbell, has been cited by the 338th Infantry Regiment of the Fifth Army's 85th "Custer" Division and awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for actual participation in combat in Italy against the enemy.

Standards for the badge are high. The decoration is awarded to the infantry soldier who has proved his fighting ability in combat.

The handsome badge consists of a silver rifle set against a background of infantry blue, enclosed in a silver wreath.

Alexander D'Arcy and Toni Gilman in "Ten Little Indians" At the Civic Auditorium, San Jose, Sunday, August 5

'Ten Little Indians' Sunday, August 5

"Ten Little Indians", the smash-hit Agatha Christie mystery comedy, has one performance in San Jose next Sunday night, August 5, beginning at 8:15. While the suspense is thrillingly built up, "Ten Little Indians", like "Arsenic and Old Lace", is deliciously funny, and, as London and New York testify by packed houses in its second season, the very best of entertainment.

The merry "Who-Dun-It" has a brilliantly constructed plot, keeping the audience guessing to the very end. As fast as a favorite suspect is settled upon, he or she is liquidated—by poison, axe, hypodermic, revolver, or what not.

Prop man Ben Jones has to be nothing short of a magician to manage the back-stage sounds, such as a raging sea, thunder, lightning, a motorboat, seagulls, howling winds, to say nothing of crashes, shrieks, etc.

The New York cast could not be better. It is the same as played in Chicago for six months, and includes Toni Gilman, Robert Warwick, Alexander D'Arcy, Philip Tonge, Lillian Foster, Hunter Gardner, and others of stage and screen.

"THE WAYFARERS" by Dan Wickenden.

Norris Bryant and his four motherless children are the same Wayfarers we meet every day. Their own problems are paramount, some succumb and slip to the lowest levels,some rise above, and others go along a fairly flexible path.

The bookmark found some parts that may explain further; "Space, space and emptiness! How I love them!"

"Johnny believed that life was good and that all men wanted to be good in their hearts; well, most of them, anyway, and those who didn't had had their minds pressed out of shape by forces beyond their control. To a greater extent, life was becoming steadily less good for more people."

"There was no dawn, of course, there never would be. That was what he had found out, that was what they had told him, all those voices; no stars, no dawn, no light of any kind, nothing; only the dark and the cold water, world without end."

Perhaps these wayfarers can rouse us enough to peer around, clasp a friendly hand and move up instead of straigt ahead.

It's good reading.

Comes the lure of green things growing,
Comes the call of waters flowing—
And the wayfarer desire
Moves and wakes and would be going. —C. G. Roberts

Cannery Week To Be Observed August 5 to 12

Community leader in California's fruit and vegetable producing areas today are preparing to observe "Cannery Week" tentatively set for August 5 to 12 to coincide with the ripening of the huge canning peach crop of the state.

As growers and processors come down the home stretch in the greatest food production drive in state history, this "Food for Fighters" program will sound the need for help in canning fruits and vegetables for the men in the Pacific. More than one billion cans of these products, the government announces, are needed for service men in the war against the Japs.

S/Sgt. Robert G. Bogner, one of the fighting sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bogner, has been assigned to Williams Field, Chandler, Arizona, to work with a technical training group. Bogner served in Italy as an aircrew member for eight months, earning the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf clusters.

Two important new railroad travel restrictions have been ordered by the U. S. Office of Defense Transportation.

Under O.D.T. Order #52, you cannot reserve a train berth or seat more than five days in advance.

Under O.D.T. Order #53, all Pullman sleeping cars operating for 450 miles or less have been discontinued.

How you are affected by new O.D.T. Travel Rules

These two orders apply to all railroads. Admittedly, they are drastic—but vitally necessary. Additional sleeping cars must be made available for veterans returning from Europe for discharge or for redeployment to the Pacific.

While these regulations will cause some inconvenience, we feel sure everyone will approve the effort to serve better the men from overseas to whom we owe so much. We know that the families of boys who are coming home will have no question as to the merits of the orders.

As far as Southern Pacific is concerned, our guiding principle has been "the military comes first," and we are cooperating one hundred percent in carrying out the O. D. T. orders—in letter, and in spirit.

With nearly twenty thousand S. P. men and women in the armed forces, we, too, have a real and personal interest in the welfare and comfort of service men and women.

Legionaires Enjoy Pot Luck Dinner

Gathering for an enjoyable pot-luck dinner, legionaires and ladies of the auxilary sat down to well stocked tables of delicious homemade goodies last Wednesday evening. The Woman's Club room was the scene of the gathering, and many mouths watered as forgotten delicacies passed up and down the tables. Point items, even to real butter, went to satisfy both inner and outer man. Succulent dishes prepared from Victory gardens offered a variety seldom found these days.

Following the sumptous dinner, each group retired to its own meeting place, there to take up the serious business of the day.

At the American Legion session, results of the previous Sunday's election of district and area officers was announced. Sid Brannaman of Palo Alto easily won the commandership of district 13, to which the local post belongs. For area commander, Pete Navarra of San Jose took the lead over Jay Harris of Santa Cruz, and outdistanced him in the final count. Harris won his own district, but the more distant posts gave Navarra the count to win.

Past Commander Rex Fuller was named to one of the important district posts, gaining recognition to this young group in state legiondom.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGee, 3 Rodeck Way, a girl, Diana Gayle, July 25, at O'Connor sanitarium.
